

Panasonic Connect Public Art Partnership Program

Panasonic Connect is proud to announce its North America Public Art Partnership Program for cultural activities. This unique program covers all cultural institutions and organizations responsible for commissioning or curating public art projects focused on their technology requirements.

This program reflects the company's commitment to foster creativity and accessibility in the art and entertainment field. By supporting innovative public art installations and cultural initiatives, Panasonic Connect empowers communities to experience the transformative power of technology in art and to make cultural activities more inclusive and accessible to the public.

Panasonic Connect's dedicated R&D team has conducted extensive research to understand the requirements and needs in the art and entertainment field, resulting in customized audio-visual solutions.
